10. Adult cats are calmer than kittens

9. Their personalities are well developed and a good match is easier to make.

8. There is no question as to how big they will get.

7. Adult cats are already litter box trained.

6. They need less attention and supervision vs a rambunctious kitten.

5. They still make strong bonds with their new families.

4. They deserve a second chance!

3. Cats often live 15-20 years, so an 8 year old cat is middle-aged and has many years of affection left to give.

2. Adult cats generally wait longer than kittens to be adopted.

1. Age is just a number and kittens aren't kittens forever!
